

I just got to work .

I am happy that I wasn't late, now I can make my boss happy. He will tell me that "I am a good employee." and give me a nice raise, which will help me buy more online classes. A raise will surely make my mother in law happy . One day I hope to be the best paid employee at the company, it such a great thing. I have been working hard, improving my focus becoming more punctual, and doing better work overall. It is nice to dream about getting a raise but I have to focus on doing a good job today and tomorrow I am just a new employee here so I have to prove myself.