

Meaningless of Good/Bad

Do you like your commute? Give a good and a bad answer.

Yes, when I take the bus to work, it's my time to relax and read a book. Over the past few years I've read a number of books during my commute that I otherwise would not be able to find the time for in my day. It's a wonderful way to start the day.

No, all the travel and getting ready unnecessarily makes me tired where all the focus should go into my work. But instead of focusing on work, I have to freeze and survive for an hour just to get to work where it takes me a while to unwind in order to begin to be productive.
